

HOT TOPICS

- » Indo-Pak Ties
- » NAM Summit
- » Ethnic Clashes in China
- » Global Credit Crisis
- » Korean Standoff
- » Ashes 2009
- » Resurgent Taliban
- » Michael Jackson: The End of an Era
- » Movie Reviews

WIDGETS

- Weather
- Map
- Dictionary

NewsX Community

Newsx on Facebook

Related Tags: budget 2009 business budget 2009 fiscal stimulus us-india chamber of commerce

Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee arrives in Parliament to present the Union Budget. Photo courtesy: AFP

US-Indian Chamber of Commerce hails Budget

Tue-Jul 07, 2009
Washington / Press Trust of India

The USA-India Chamber of Commerce has said the annual budget presented by the Finance Minister Pranab Mukherjee is a massive piece of fiscal stimulus which would spur growth and employment in the country.

"This budget is a massive piece of fiscal stimulus," Karun Rishi, president of the USA-India Chamber of Commerce, told PTI. "Budget deficit of 6.8 per cent of the GDP, combined with States' deficit of nearly four per cent of GDP and off budget borrowings to finance food and fertilizer subsidies adds the combined government borrowing to about 12 per cent of the GDP. With this, the short term policy objective of stimulating demand will be achieved," Rishi said.

He also applauded the removal of Fringe Benefit Tax by Mukherjee in his budgetary proposals. "This was a major concern for the US companies operating in India," Rishi said. "Handsome additional allocation to flagship programs like Urban Renewal Mission and National Rural Health Mission will lead to more inclusive growth, both for the urban and rural poor," he said.

Related Articles

- Budget has no big ticket reforms, says BJP
- Pranab meets India Inc after budget
- Budget: Industry hails, economists differ, investors decry
- IT industry hails STPI extension, FBT removal
- OIL, NHPC to hit capital markets in Aug-Sept: Chawla

Rate This Article: ☆☆☆☆☆

No votes yet

Share

Print